DOUSING FIRE — Fire Fighter Kenneth Fayard Jr. of the East Hancock County Volunteer Fire Department douses the charred remains of a house which burned to the ground at the corner of Amazon and Nile Streets in Shoreline Park Monday afternoon. A member of the County Sheriff's Department Fire Investigation Squad said arson is suspected as cause of the blaze. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

Fires destroy five homes

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A faulty electric blanket is listed as cause of a Saturday morning blaze which leveled a Standard Community home.

Local investigators suspect arson in two fires in Shoreline Park which destroyed a house and trailer early last week.

In addition, faulty electrical wiring running to central heating units has been cited as cause of fires which totally destroyed two Hancock County residences recently.

STANDARD FIRE

Ed Friloux of BaySide Park, County Sheriff's Department fire investigator and Diamondhead Fire Department fire safety administrator, Saturday afternoon said a blaze reported at 11 a.m. that day burned a Standard family's home to the ground.

"The apparent cause of the fire was a deficient electric blanket. Apparently there was a short in the blanket," he stated.

The investigator said Maurine and Lonnie Summers of Route 3, Pass Christian lost their four-room wood-frame home and all possessions "except for the cloths on their back."

He noted the family has no insurance

Manufacturer furnishes Gulfview roof warranty

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A sprayed insulating foam roof installed on buildings at Gulfview Elementary School in Lakeshore several months ago has finally received warranties by the coating manufacturer.

The roofing material was installed at the school by Marine Industrial Residential Insulators, Inc. of Long Beach after a May tornado heavily damaged the Lakeshore facility.

Earlier this month MIRI issued a five-year warranty for their roof installation work at the school after repairing several flaws in the material, but the roofing materials manufacturer informed the board it could not issue a warranty until a local distributor paid for the materials used.

The letter states the local distributor, Roofing Systems, Inc. of Gulfport, paid the company for roofing materials.

The Hancock County School Board received a letter Saturday from Anchor Coatings, Inc. of Waukesha, Wis. accompanying warranties which required the local school board president's signature.

The manufacturer requested the signed warranties be returned to the Wisconsin company.

Bennett vetoes motion to join coast authority

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett Friday night vetoed a resolution by the City Council to enter into a contract with the Gulf Coast Regional Wastewater Treatment Authority.

Bennett's move came immediately after the Council had passed a resolution by a 3-2 vote to enter contract negotiations with the regional authority.

Councilmen Pete Benvenuti, James Thrifflay and Fred Wagner favored joining the regional authority with Wilmer Seymour and Harry Farve opposed.

Bennett also asked the Council to call for a voter referendum on the question in a prepared statement he presented to City Clerk Eddie Favre.

Walter Gex, acting legal counsel for the city, at a Thursday night meeting requested time to investigate if a referendum could be called.

Joseph Gex, council's regular attorney, reported Friday night that such a referendum was not possible.

Gex stated, "Walter and I researched the citizen vote this morning and we cannot find a statute allowing the city to call for a referendum."

Many of those present at both Thursday and Friday night's meetings indicated they were not aware of the regional versus local wastewater issue and were unaware of the proposed programs.

Benvenuti, council president, presented a list from CH2M HILL, engineers for the regional authority, of public hearings and meetings during the past five years on Gulf Coast wastewater planning, including the 201 and 208 program from which the current Waveland Authority plan has evolved.

The list presented by engineer Donald Benson to Benvenuti shows meetings were held on:

—June 30, 1975, 2 p.m. public meeting
—June 25, 1975, 7:30 p.m. public hearing, Bay St. Louis High School
—Feb. 17, 1978, 9:30 a.m. public hearing, Hancock County Courthouse

The first primary election for the City of Bay St. Louis will be held May 12, 1981, according to Eddie Favre, city clerk.

Favre said, "A Bay resident must be registered at both the Hancock County Courthouse and the Bay City Hall in order to vote in the election of Mayor and five city commissioners."

A second primary will be held a week later in case there is no one receiving a majority of votes cast in any position.

Favre commented, "Bay St. Louis has nearly 8,000 residents according to the 1980 census and we have only 2,710 registered voters. We should have many more people eligible to vote."

The qualifications for a person to be able to vote include that they must be registered 30 days before the election at both the county courthouse and city hall.

Proposed Bay marina passes first hurdle

By BRENT MACEY

Developers of a proposed townhouse-marina complex off the Jourdan River between Cedar Point and Joe's Bayou cleared a major project hurdle Tuesday when the Mississippi Wildlife Conservation Commission Tuesday approved a wetland usage classification change on the site.

Reclassification of the land to a 'C' or commercial area enables the Charles Land Company of Harahan, La. to proceed with applications to state and federal agencies concerning future construction.

The 235-acre site was formerly classified as a 'G' or general area under the Mississippi Wetlands program.

Victor Franckiewicz, assistant to Bureau of Marine Resources director, Dr. Richard Leard, said applications for construction have been submitted to the bureau and studies have begun.

"A number of other state and federal agencies will also be considering the construction applications," Franckiewicz said.

He said federal agency recommendations on whether to approve the applications could take as long as six months.

Owners of Bay Marina in Bay St. Louis, Sid Oden and Robert Dugger, said they would be meeting with the BMR to discuss what steps can be taken.

Sheriff lauds citizen aid in Ansley arrests

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Five Pearllington residents were arrested late Wednesday in connection with an alleged burglary of the Ansley Community residence of Stephen T. Lamby.

Hancock Sheriff Ronald Peterson said, "James A. (Jimmy) Ladner saw the five allegedly coming out of a residence carrying items and notified the sheriff's office. Deputy Ronald Cuevas was in the immediate area and arrived at the scene to find Ladner chasing three of them on foot."

Two of the suspects had fled in a waiting auto and were later arrested at their residence.

Arrested and charged with burglary of a residence were Richard Simpson, 18; Joseph Garvin 20; Harold Kerpard, 18; Thomas Kerpard, 23; and one 17-year-old juvenile, all of Pearllington.

Police report a TV set, cash, coins, home movie projector, stereo and sleeping bag were among items recovered.

Hancock Investigators Alvin Ladner and Delbert Seay, Deputy Fairley Necaise and Auxiliary Deputy David Murtagh in addition to Cuevas were involved in the arrests.

The four adults are scheduled to appear before District One Justice Court Judge Lee Klein Feb. 11 and are out on $5,000 bond each.

The juvenile was turned over to the Youth Court.

Peterson had high praises for Jimmy Ladner's help.

"Mr. Ladner was a big help to us in making the arrests. Citizen participation in notifying us about unusual happenings in their communities can help us reduce crime. We need more citizens like Jimmy Ladner," the sheriff said.

In other police activities, Rick E. Ott Jr., of Kiln Wednesday was charged with the alleged embezzlement of $1,320 from the Shifalo Memorial Baptist Church.

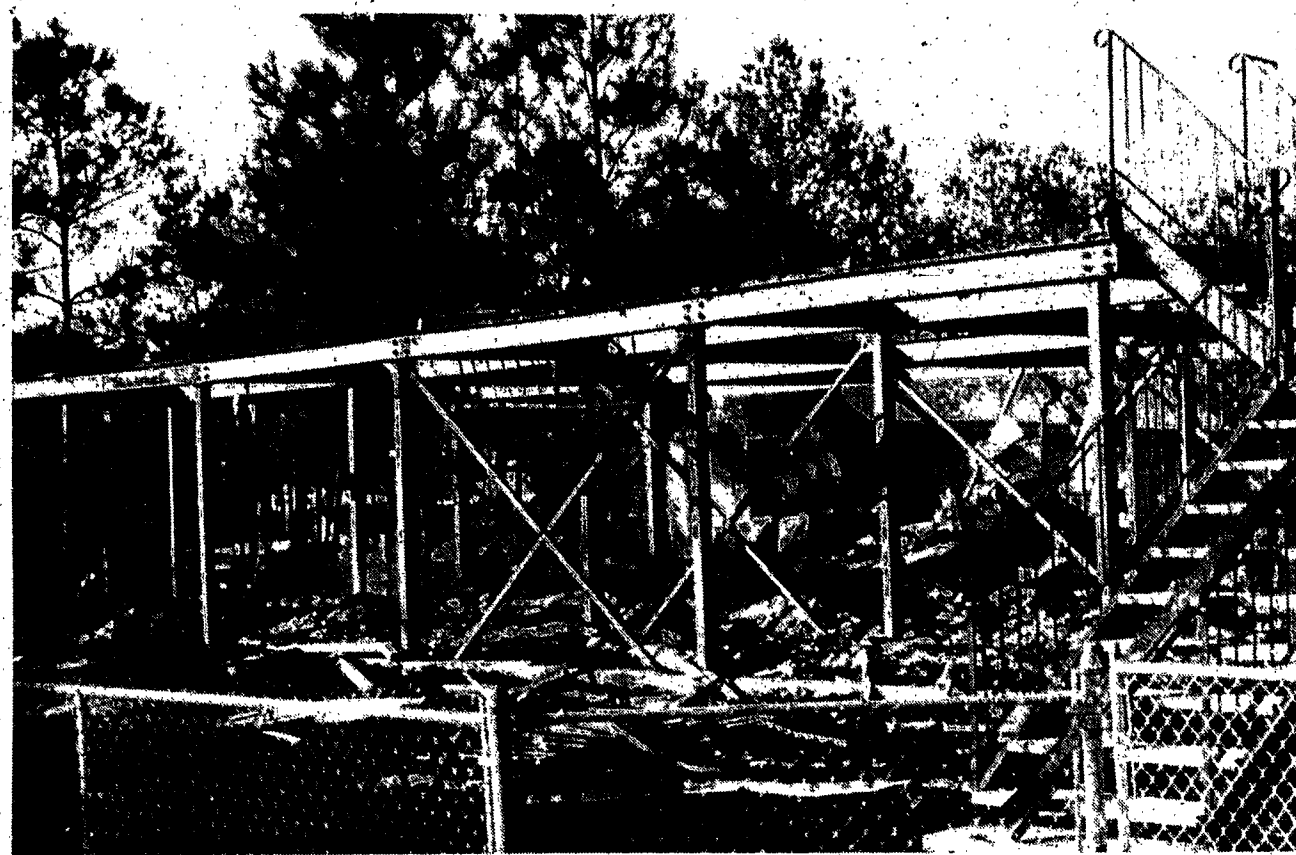

"There was a meeting at the Kiln Church on Sunday and new officers were elected. Ott had served as the treasurer the previous term," the sheriff reported.

In checking on Ott's past, Peterson found out that he had served time in federal and state prisons.

"The new officers of the church checked the records of checks written and found some in the last two months were written to Ott and other unauthorized persons."

Pastor Terrel Blair filed the complaint and Investigators Ladner and Seay and Eddie Jennings and Melvin Barnes, auxiliary deputies, arrested Ott at his residence," Peterson allowed. Ott is now out on a $5,000 bond. Other church records were seized from Ott's residence using a search warrant.

Investigator Ladner reports, "Ott has served three and half years in a federal penitentiary for interstate transport of fraudulent securities and six years in the state penitentiary on similar charges."

SUMMER RESIDENCE DESTROYED — The metal foundation and stairs are all that remain of a summer residence on Good Street near Blue Meadow Road just north of Bay St. Louis which was totally destroyed in an early-morning Jan. 7 fire. Assistant Chief Jimmy Varnell of the East Hancock Volunteer Fire Department said apparent faulty wiring running to an electric central heating unit started the blaze. (Photo by Jimmy Varnell) coverage of any type.

The house was located on 16th Section Road near the home of District Three Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner.

Friloux said the Summers reported they discovered their house in flames after returning from a local grocery store.

Lonnie Summers was rushed to Hancock General Hospital during the fire with what appeared to emergency technicians to be a cardiac arrest, but a hospital spokesman said Saturday afternoon the woman was treated for hysteria and released.

Friloux noted, "The Summers' daughter passed out from the emotional shock, but she was revived at the scene."

"The Kiln Volunteer Fire Department responded to the blaze with seven fire fighters and Diamondhead sent its rescue unit and four fire fighters," he reported.

The investigator said Kiln arrived at the fire scene 15 minutes after the alarm, but the roof of the house had already collapsed by that time.

"When the residents returned to their home they said black smoke and yellow and red flames were rolling out of the front door," he explained.

Friloux dispelled any indication of arson and said no evidence of flammable liquids was found.

"The Hancock County Chapter—American Red Cross arrived at the scene and is providing emergency service to the family," he stated.

"The investigator said the Red Cross is lodging the homeless family for one night in a local motel, but the cost for this service will exhaust the organization's funds.

He said the Hancock County Emergency Relief Fund may purchase one more night's lodging for the family.

"Putting this family up has broken us financially. We've just got a few more dollars for gasoline so we can assist local firemen," Friloux said.

The investigator noted the Red Cross has assisted some six families in similar situations during January alone.

SHORELINE ARSONS.

Friloux Friday said a blaze reported at 12:05 a.m. Jan. 18 completely destroyed a trailer on Bayou View Drive in Shoreline Park owned by M.A. Roth of Metairie.

The investigator said arson is suspected in the fire because the trailer was abandoned at the time of the blaze and no electrical wiring was connected to the structure.

"There was no evidence of a flammable liquid used, no power source and the building was abandoned," he explained.

"The owners had cleaned up the trailer, moved the grass around it and returned to Metairie before dark the previous day," Friloux noted.

The investigator said Roth had been planning to increase use of his Hancock County property.

"Steve Faucetta, a neighbor, looked out of his window around midnight and saw the trailer involved in flames," the investigator said.

Arson is also suspected in a Monday afternoon fire which leveled an unoccupied two-bedroom house at the corner of Nile and Amazon Streets in Shoreline Park.

Local officials do not know who owns the structure.

Fire fighters at the scene said the wood-frame building was completely involved in flames when they arrived so they concentrated efforts on extinguishing a woods fire sparked by the structural blaze then doused the charred remains of the house.

Friloux stated, "We are investigating both of these fires because these are two fires occurring within two days in close proximity to each other and both structures had no electricity connected to them."

East Hancock Volunteer and Waveland Fire Departments, and Hancock County Chapter—American Red Cross responded to both fires.

FIRE TOWER ROAD BLAZE

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Bob) Lyons of Firetower Road northwest of Kiln near Hwy. 43 was completely destroyed in a flareup Jan. 17 after a fire reported at 9 a.m. the previous day gutted the interior of the home.

No one was home at the time of both blazes.

The three-bedroom brick house was approximately two-years old.

Friloux said an investigation of the Jan. 16 blaze determined wiring running to an electric central heating unit caused the fire which destroyed the interior of the home.

The investigator said when he arrived at the fire scene with the Diamondhead Fire Department, a unit of the Kiln Fire Department was fighting the blaze from outside the structure.

Friloux said Diamondhead firemen, using special equipment, entered the home and "knocked out" the blaze.

"A Fire Squad member conducted an investigation after the fire was extinguished and determined faulty electrical wiring running to the heating unit caused the blaze," the investigator stated.

Friloux said undetected "hot spots" from the Friday fire apparently reignited a blaze in the home which was reported at 8:30 a.m. the next day.

"When we arrived at the second fire the house was completely involved and there was nothing we could do," Friloux explained.

Responding to the blaze were the Kiln Volunteer, East Hancock Volunteer, Diamondhead and Waveland Fire Departments.

GOOD STREET FIRE

Faulty wiring running to a central heating unit is also suspected as cause of a Jan. 7 fire reported at 3:45 a.m. which completely destroyed a summer residence on Good Street near Blue Meadow Road.

The house unoccupied when the fire erupted.

Jimmy Varnell, East Hancock County Volunteer Fire Department assistant chief, Friday reported a summer residence owned by the Ingargiola family of New Orleans was destroyed in the blaze.

"When we arrived at the fire scene the entire house was totally involved in flames," Varnell stated.

"We suspect wiring to a central heating unit caused this fire," he noted.

East Hancock Volunteer, Bay St. Louis and Waveland Fire Departments responded to the fire.

REWARDS OFFERED

Friloux noted that state agencies and a private organization offer rewards for various types of fires.

He said the International Association of Mobile Home Dealers offer a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of a mobile home arsonist.

The State of Mississippi will award up to a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any arsonist who burns any type of structure, according to Friloux.

The investigator also noted the State Forestry Commission offers a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of a wood's arsonist.

WAVELAND CAR-TRAIN COLLISION—Earl Millsap, 64, of 712 St. Joseph St. in Waveland was treated and released from Hancock General Hospital in Bay St. Louis Saturday for apparent high blood pressure after a four-engine 79-car Louisville and Nashville Railroad train collided with his automobile at the Coleman Avenue crossing just about a block from the man's home at 10:55 a.m. that day. Patrolman Veronica Hattabaugh of the Waveland Police Department said no citations have been issued in the incident. She reported witnesses saw Millsap traveling south on Coleman, he had stopped at the tracks, then was slowly moving across the tracks when the westbound train hit the front of his automobile and spun the vehicle off to the northwest side of the crossing. W.R. Grimes of Simmes, Ala. was the train engineer at the time of the accident. Some 75 neighbors and passersby stopped to observe the results of the mishap. Responding to the accident were Patrolmen Hattabaugh, Terry Taravouille, John Wilkerson, Chief Donald Dorn and Auxiliary Chief Cliff Vote, all of the Waveland Police Department, the Bay St. Louis Police Department, Waveland Fire Department, Mobile Medic, Hancock County Sheriff's Department and N.A. Pernicelli Wrecker Service. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducom Jr.)

Bits 'n pieces

There are some very rude people in this world and they seem to surface every now and then.

In a conversation with a longtime friend Friday, she reported this happened to her:

She was shopping earlier at one of our local shopping centers. As she was ready to leave, a Highway Express truck making a delivery had her as well as others blocked.

This person asked the driver if he could move, and in a rude way he told her no. Meanwhile other drivers appeared on the scene wanting to leave, but were unable to do so.

The people this Highway Express truck had blocked just had to wait for the driver to deliver his merchandise. We are told he took his time about it before they could leave.

We feel that it is very impolite for a person to park behind someone's vehicle, much less refuse to move when asked. This seems to be a sad world we are living in today.

In checking to see how many registered voters are on the books in Bay St. Louis, we find many citizens have not taken the time to register to vote.

The county registrations, as well as Waveland's are also not as many as should be considering the number who are eligible to vote.

One of the things we have observed over the years is the fact that the ones who usually make the most noise about how the governmental agencies are run are the persons not registered to vote.

We urge all persons not registered to please do so at the County Courthouse and if residents of Bay St. Louis or Waveland, at their respective city halls.

Come this May, there will be a Bay St. Louis election.

The students of area schools are planning a thanksgiving Friday evening rally in honor of the release of the Americans by Iran.

The group, led by Bay Senior High Senior Charlene Clark, have State Representative J. P. Compretta as emcee and are lining up bands and other groups.

We think this is a very good program for our young people to undertake and we should all support them 100 percent.

The program is scheduled to start at 4 p.m. on the Bay St. Louis City Hall grounds.

We hope to see all of you there. The release of those 52 Americans by Iran is something many of us had doubts would ever happen.

We should also never fail to remember the fallen Americans in the aborted rescue attempt.

Senator Thad Cochran

SPECIAL REPORT:

Freedoms We Hold

During the recently holiday season I received a Christmas card and letter from a family in North Mississippi whom I had assisted in resolving a problem with a federal agency.

The wife who wrote the letter is a native of Czechoslovakia but is now an American citizen. She and her husband operate a grocery store in a small town in our state.

Her words very clearly and so very eloquently describe the marked differences in life in America and that imposed on citizens in a Communist-dominated state that I asked their permission to share parts of her letter with you. I quote:

"My husband and I had an opportunity to visit my brother and sister behind the Iron Curtain in Czechoslovakia last April. Naturally, the first places we wanted to see were the grocery stores. It is unbelievable and shocking what you see.

"People must line up one hour or more before the stores open in order to get half a piece of decent meat. There is hardly any beef, very little poultry, but mostly just pork, and none of it is wrapped. It is out there for everybody to handle.

"The bread was just dumped in a big basket, and it also was unwrapped. Milk was in plastic bags, similar to potatoes or beans and peas in American stores. You must also bring your own bag and sack your own groceries in Czechoslovakia. That really was an experience!

"My brother's farm, his cattle, and machinery were all taken away from him by the Communists, but at least they did leave him with the house in which to live. We certainly did not feel free there at all during our trip, and were very cautious about what we said in our conversations.

"It was such a great relief to return to this great country, where we have freedom to worship, to vote for anyone we please, freedom of press, and others. There are so many people here who don't appreciate the freedoms this country offers them. They protest, they march, and they don't want to go and fight for our country. I just don't understand it."

She concluded her letter by saying that "I was the happiest person when I received my citizenship papers here" after coming to the United States from Czechoslovakia during World War II.

Too often, we Americans take for granted the freedoms and opportunities our Constitution and Bill of Rights insure us. But many fine Americans have died and others have made substantial sacrifices to win and guarantee us those freedoms.

Our generation now has the responsibility for keeping this nation strong and maintaining our liberties in the face of potentially grave threats around the world.

I think about Poland, and their current trouble with Soviet-imposed Communism. There is the latest in a series of confrontations that Eastern European countries have had with the Soviet Union.

In our own Mississippi town of Kosciusko, we observed Polish-American Day to help focus attention on the value of our freedom and our hope for more freedom for our friends who live in Poland.

I commend the citizens of Kosciusko for their celebration of Polish-American Day, honoring the many contributions made to our country by those of Polish ancestry. We particularly applaud the participation in the Revolutionary War by the great Polish-American patriot and soldier, Thaddeus Kosciusko, for whom the Attala County seat is named.

Those who would take too lightly the responsibilities of citizenship, and the freedoms all Americans today enjoy should look at the grim situation in nations such as Poland and Czechoslovakia to more fully appreciate the liberties and personal opportunity available in our country.

It is these liberties and opportunities which all of us must vigilantly guard and help maintain for this and future generations of Americans.

BILL ALLAIN, ATTORNEY GENERAL

IF YOU WORK AT HOME

Much has been written about chain letters and other pyramid plans that promise great wealth if you simply put up your money. Perhaps it's just the idea of getting something for nothing that induces people to engage in this kind of illegal speculation, but as a rule people really know there are more losers than winners in such schemes.

A far more serious problem exists for handicapped, elderly, otherwise homebound consumers, most of whom need to earn money but are simply unable to perform any kind of work outside their homes. Many advertisements for work-at-home plans appear in newspapers or magazines and claim "You can earn $3,000 a month in your home" or "Money! Beyond your wildest dreams." Often consumers believe these offers are legitimate because they appear in reputable publications. But this is simply not so.

A typical work-at-home plan may promise a large weekly income for a few hours of work stuffing envelopes. It usually requires that you send in a sum of money to receive information about the business. You are then sent a booklet describing how you can get into the same business — putting ads in the paper asking people to send money to you, and in turn receive yet another booklet from you about how they can go into business. This type of scheme is much like a chain letter or a pyramid scheme.

There are many work-at-home schemes too numerous to mention, but here are some rules to follow:

—If you are interested in a specific program that you saw advertised, see if the company will send you any free literature. If you are required to put down money before you can even learn about the program, it is probably wise to stay away from the company.

—Be suspicious of claims of guaranteed markets and great demand.

—Be wary of personal testimonials which do not identify the person who "made hundreds of dollars in no time."

—Remember that work-at-home schemes will not guarantee you regular salaried employment or a market.

If you need additional information concerning work-at-home schemes you can contact your Attorney General Bill Allain, Consumer Protection Division, P.O. Box 220, Jackson, Ms. 39205, (601) 961-4244.

The Bottom Line

Candid Answers To Your Questions
About Advertising and Business Topics.

By S. GALE DENLEY
Associate Professor of Journalism
University of Mississippi

My college student son informs me that his advertising instructor says newspaper is not used for expensive products that want to present a quality image. What Do You Say?

Dear WDYS: I don't know the context in which the statement was made, but based on the statement alone my response would be: Advertising instructors should not make such statements if they are to present an image of intelligence.

To prove the point, the most expensive purchase most families make today is their home.

Where do you find almost 100 per cent of the advertising for houses?

To be sure many companies with regional or national products advertise nationally with other media. Automobiles, jewelry, major appliances, and some clothes are frequently featured on tv and in slick magazines.

But the local outlets, where customers must go to make the purchases, one-by-one and one-on-one, rely on local newspapers to get these prospects into their places of business.

The mass seller may create a million prospects with promotion, but every sale is a matter of one purchaser making a decision to visit a nearby outlet to pay his money and pick up the item.

It takes both to work—local outlets need mass promotion to help create a demand. And to the manufacturer the mass promotion is useless if every prospect he generates can't find a local supplier.

Here's where the local medium comes in to the picture. Through local ads area outlets identify themselves along with special offers and pricing information generally not given in the national ads.

The role of the local newspaper in this chain of events is no less important than any of the other ingredients.

To restate the point, regardless of the price or quality of merchandise, it will be sold to local people through local outlets. No amount of mass promotion can overcome a local breakdown.

HERITAGE NEWS FORUM

FROM THE HERITAGE FOUNDATION • WASHINGTON, D.C.

By EDWIN FEULNER

Item one: Could terrorists smuggle a nuclear device into your city and hold the entire population hostage? According to a November 18 report by Larry Collins on 20-20, The ABC News Magazine, the potential is very real.

Item two: A proposed ban on federal training or employment for anyone who publicly advocates the violent overthrow of the U.S. government died in Congress in December, when the lame-duck 96th Congress quit for good. Rep. Dan Daniel (D-Virginia), chief sponsor of the measure, said he would renew his effort to win approval of the measure in the 97th Congress. In the meantime, those who advocate the violent overthrow of the United States government can't be excluded from the federal payroll, including that of the Department of Defense and other national security agencies.

Item three: A mid-December United Press International wire story reads as follows: "FBI Director William Webster says the Soviets and Chinese appear to be stepping up efforts to steal U.S. industrial technology, such as secrets on laser devices, microbiology and microelectronics."

What are we to make of these reports?

Well, if you're a liberal, you might say it's all silly nonsense and attack Larry Collins, Congressman Daniel, and William Webster as a bunch of McCarthyite scare-mongers looking for an old excuse to crack down on political dissent and put the American people in irons-and-chains.

What makes me say this?

A little over a month ago, as part of The Heritage Foundation's 20-volume study on policy options for a conservative administration, international terrorism expert Samuel Francis wrote that the U.S. intelligence community was in a weakened state and sorely in need of an overhaul. It was a tough, no-nonsense analysis — tempered, however, by some similarly strong language pointing out the need to guard Americans against the kinds of repressive measures one would find in a police state.

That, it seems, would have been a good place to begin the debate on which of many options the intelligence and law enforcement communities ought to pursue.

That was not to be. Instead of debate (largely due to a very misleading Associated Press wire story), Dr. Francis' policy paper was greeted with a vicious and violent attack. He was compared to Stalin and Hitler; accused of advocating a return to McCarthyism; called a "red baiter," and on and on and on.

As a shocked and saddened Francis commented afterwards, none of his critics had bothered reading his paper or discussing it with him.

It was as if there wasn't an ounce of truth in anything Dr. Francis said, as if he was a criminal — not the terrorists, Ku Klux Klan and others who would use violence to accomplish their political goals.

"Terrorism is a fact of life that America must deal with," Dr. Francis said in the wake of the controversy. "There is no reason to believe that we are exempt from the forces of history or have some special writ from the Almighty that will spare us the terrorism and violence that has victimized Great Britain, Israel, Italy, West Germany, Japan, and other civilized nations in recent years."

Unfortunately, he said, some people are unwilling to accept this fact or to engage in meaningful debate on the issue. Their solution is to close their eyes and call Dr. Francis names.

(Faulner is president of The Heritage Foundation, a Washington-based public policy research institute.)

NEWS FROM THE GOVERNOR'S OFFICE

Governor William Winter unveiled a 1981 legislative program last week which placed a firm emphasis on education and measures to stimulate the state's economy.

Kindergartens and compulsory school attendance were central features of the governor's education proposals in his State of the State message. In the economic development sphere Winter called for measures to boost the state's small business enterprises.

In his remarks, Winter again called for a "new resourcefulness" to maintain the state's financial integrity while simultaneously insuring that Mississippi develops as rapidly as possible.

In his message Winter asked legislators to "consider and approve programs that will leap-frog our state in a few short years over states with less vision than our own. To do that," he said, "we must develop further those opportunities for all of our citizens that afford them quality education and training as well as worthwhile and satisfactory jobs."

In his message the governor placed special emphasis on the need for a system of state-funded kindergartens. He said that kindergartens would be the single most important measure to improve education.

Winter's economic development proposals include tax breaks for small businesses similar to those given to large industries in the state. Another feature of the economic stimulus package is the creation within the Department of Economic Development of a new division designed specifically to advise small businesses and help them find sources of capital. Winter also called for a one-stop permitting process for new businesses.

Winter additionally asked the legislators to establish a long-range highway construction, take additional steps to develop state ports, and establish a revolving fund for railroad maintenance. The governor also asked legislators to set up a special committee to study Medicaid and problems within the state's health-care programs and recommend improvements to the 1982 session of the legislature.

Tri-county Coast grows 18.7%

Hancock among state's fastest growing counties

Mississippi's population increased by 13.7 percent over the past decade to 2,520,638 according to just released 1980 Census data.

This increase represents the first time since 1940 that Mississippi has outstripped the national rate of population increase.

The U.S. population grew by 11.4 percent to 266,504,825.

The state's three metropolitan areas posted impressive population gains over the last ten years, according to a review of the preliminary Census data by Jim Williamson and Michael McCarthy, economic analysts with the State Research and Development Center.

The Jackson metropolitan area (Hinds, Madison, and Rankin counties) increased in population by 23.6 percent to 356,662.

The Biloxi-Gulfport metropolitan area of Harrison, Hancock, and Stone counties grew by 18.7 percent to 190,062.

And the Pascagoula-Moss Point metropolitan area (Jackson County) gained 34.1 percent to 117,994.

DeSoto County, part of metropolitan Memphis, rose 49.8 percent to 53,740.

Hinds, Harrison, and Jackson counties remained the top three counties in population, and the only ones in the state with more than 100,000 people.

In a significant reversal of 1970 census figures, which showed 49 of Mississippi's counties with population losses, only 16 counties had losses between 1970 and 1980, the review noted.

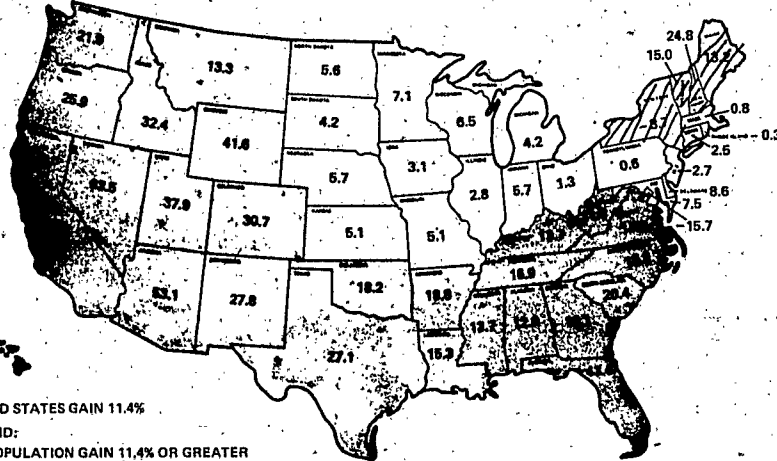

All 16 are traditionally black-majority counties; 12 are in the Delta. The five counties showing the largest percentage population gains were Lamar, 57.2 percent; Rankin, 55.2 percent; DeSoto, 49.8 percent; Hancock, 41.4 percent; and Madison, 36.6 percent.

Jackson remained by far the largest city in the state, with a population of 200,338. The city's population increased 10.8 percent during the past decade.

Biloxi and Meridian had marginal population gains of 1.3 percent over 1970.

The fastest growing cities in Mississippi with over 10,000 people were Clinton, D'Iberville and Southaven. These three suburban cities each had population gains of 80 percent

The letter also informed the board that the Wisconsin corporation is involved in a lawsuit with MIRI regarding its materials.

Newly-elected Board President Monvel Cuevas was not present at the meeting. Board Vice President Woodrow Ladner chaired the meeting, but recommended the documents by signed by Cuevas.

The board has been withholding a final $5,000 payment to MIRI pending receipt of Anchor's warranty. The board did not discuss the outstanding amount.

Regarding 16th Section lands owned by the Picayune Municipal Separate School District in northwest Hancock County, the local board voted to mail a letter to the Picayune board stating the local district's intention to reacquire the land.

The local district's 16th Section Land Manager Terry Randolph stated Saturday the land was conveyed to the Picayune district when children in northwest portion of the county attended the city's schools.

However, Randolph contends the Picayune district no longer has reason to retain the land because local children no longer attend the city's school.

The National Space Technology Laboratories' acoustic buffer zone moved residents out of the northwest portion of the county in the early 1960's.

Board Attorney Joseph Gex informed the board his law firm partner Walter Phillips was school board attorney at the time the agreement was reached.

"Phillips said he would be glad to handle a lawsuit in this matter," Gex said.

"He is now preparing a lawsuit," the board attorney added.

"I talked with Lonnie Smith of the Picayune district and he has talked with their board and he said they would not approve returning the land," Gex explained.

Ladner suggested, "Shouldn't we send them a letter or something telling them our intentions. It's a common courtesy."

Gex replied, "All the newspapers have printed information about this, so they should already know our intentions."

Randolph noted that some $30,000 in tax money and approximately $20,000 in assessed valuation for public utilities is being lost each year from the 60 square miles of Hancock County land owned by Picayune.

"We lost a mineral lease for sand and gravel for the U.S. Army Ammunition Plant under construction at NSTL," Randolph added.

HOUSE BURNS—A house at the corner of Nile and Amazon Streets in Shoreline Park burns to the ground. or greater.
"The population growth in Mississippi generally reflects the economic boom that has taken place in the southern and western states over the past several years," according to Williamson.

Five of these states had population growth rates greater than three times that of the national average: Arizona, 53.1 percent; Nevada, 63.5 percent; Florida, 43.4 percent; Wyoming, 41.6 percent; and Utah, 37.9 percent.

Mississippi's neighboring states of Arkansas, Tennessee, Louisiana, and Alabama showed gains of 18.9 percent, 16.9 percent, 15.3 percent, and 12.9 percent, respectively.

Mississippi's population growth rate ranked 25th among the 50 states.

Hawks, Rocks reach finals

By Randy Ponder

Both St. Stanislaus and Hancock North Central reached the finals of the Bay High Invitation Tournament with strong second half showings against Bay High and Vanceleave.

The Hawks used a 20 point outburst in the final period to put away Vanceleave 46-28. St. Stanislaus scored 32 points in the second half giving the Rocks a 51-44 come from behind win.

The Hawkettes also reached the finals with a 38-23 thrupping of the Long Beach girls.

Terri Phebus sparked the Hawkettes with 20 points. Shelia Ladner hit for 6 and Susie Necaise added 5.

D'Iberville girls, led by Sandra Rushind and Angela Wolfe with 14 and 13 points respectively, eliminated Pass Christian 43-40. Fran Jacobs scored 18 points for the lady Pirates.

Vanceleave used a slow down game to stay close to the Hancock North Central Hawks. At the end of the first quarter the score was only 6-4 for the Hawks. Almost five minutes was played before the Bulldogs put the first points of the game on the boards.

The Hawks flexed their muscles in the second half, scoring 31 points to Vanceleave's 18.

Neal Ladner led the Hawks with 16. Bobby DeVaughn added 9 and Don Moran and Brian Arcement tossed in 7 and 6 respectively.

John Briggs was high for the Bulldogs with 11 points.

The Bay High Tigers got off to a fast start, scoring the first 7 points of the game before the Rocks dented the boards at the two minute mark of the first period.

The home standing Tigers lead 9-6 at the end of the first quarter and 21-19 at halftime.

Coach Steve North's Rock-A-Chaws out gunned the Tigers 14-6 in third and deciding period, taking the lead and the game.

COME FROM BEHIND VICTORY—The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws reached the finals of the Bay High Basketball Tournament with a thrilling 51-44 decision over the host Bay High Tigers Friday night at the Tiger Dome. News Brief

TEENAGE DIETS

As adolescents grow into young adults and as their parents have less and less control over what they eat, their eating habits may deteriorate.

Busy family lives, fewer meals at home and peer pressure may result in unwise food choices among these maturing, changing young people.

A new instructional television series, produced by Georgia Educational Television is designed for those middle and junior high students who may skip breakfast, snack excessively, try fad diets and have irregular meal schedules.

It's also for those whose nutritional habits may not be as bad, but who need a sound education in recognizing and choosing foods to fit their individual nutrient needs and personal values. The series is designed to encourage the entire target audience to form sound eating habits now and for adult years.

'Soup-to-Nuts' can be seen at 1:15 p.m., Tuesdays, beginning Jan. 27, on the Mississippi Educational Television Network. Each lesson in the 10-program series will be rebroadcast at 11:45 a.m., Thursdays.

The programs feature a primary cast of seven teen-agers. In the series' magazine format, they sometimes discuss personal problems and sometimes act in sketches that dramatize the series' objectives.

Each program concludes with an open-ended decision-making segment designed to initiate classroom discussion and follow-up activities.

'Soup-to-Nuts' was funded and designed by a consortium of educational agencies including Mississippi ETV and other agencies in Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Louisiana, Oklahoma, South Carolina and Tennessee.

said the Environmental Protection Agency people in Washington were not going to accept a three page report and give approval.

Wagner was making a comparison to a report prepared on January 7, 1981 by the Waveland Regional Wastewater Authority's engineering firm of Lewis Eaton Partnership, Architects, Engineers, and Planners, of Jackson. Bennett mentioned a regional system in the Chicago area on which initial cost was estimated at $3.4 billion and that when it was 25 percent complete $2.4 billion had been spent.

"A new estimated total cost set the Chicago project up to $11 billion and Senator Charles Percy said stop," Bennett stated.

The council will need at least a 4 to 1 vote to overturn Mayor Bennett's veto.

Thursday night the Bay Council voted to recess its meeting until Friday night to make a 'final' decision on which authority to join.

Citizens, most speaking in opposition to the Bay joining the Regional Tri-County Authority indicated they had wanted a referendum by the people as to how they felt.

Charles Hirsutius, spokesman for the Spanish Acres residents indicated, "I feel that this law is arbitrary and unconstitutional under Section Five of the 1985 Voting Rights Act, and will be contested as such."

Mayor Bennett had presented to the council a petition with 934 signatures of Bay residents calling for a referendum on the wastewater issue, but the number fell short of the 1,500 required to call for such action.

Under Law, such petitions should bear signatures of 10 percent of the voters or 1,500, whichever is greater. Bay St. Louis only has a little over 2,700 voters which would require over 50 percent having to sign for a referendum to be held.

Many of the over 40 in attendance objected to such a large number having to sign for the referendum.

Bill Hilliker, Bay St. Louis' representative on the Regional Wastewater Authority, reported he had, at the request of the council, requested an extension in the regional deadline.

Hilliker reported, "I attempted to get a motion through that if a body had showed prior intent and interest they would be considered after the July 31, 1981 final deadline. Our legal counsel (Wastewater Regional Authority's) - said it would be illegal. It would give those an advantage over those already signed."

Indications by those in attendance at the public hearing was that more time was needed by the public and more information.

Lucien Raymond, Bay resident said, "I would like to know what the system is going to cost me and the other tax payers. If you could give us some solid information the people would be behind you."

Geraldine Lang, spokesman for the Concerned Citizens stated, "Why don't you have seminars to teach us?" Hilliker stated that the City would have to sign with the tri-county authority by Jan. 31, or there will probably be a penalty involved. "The thing has to be resolved," he said.

Bennett, who opposes joining the tri-county authority and is a member of the Waveland Regional Wastewater Authority, presented data of the Waveland engineering plan to demonstrate that the city could meet mandated standards cheaper in a system confined to Hancock County alone.

A critique of the Waveland plan received from the engineering firm of CH2M Hill, engineers representing the Tri-County Authority, was presented. It was stated that it would not meet the Environmental Protection Agency or Bureau of Pollution Control standards and also the design and cost figures were unacceptable.

Pete Benvenuti, Council president, reported, "Efforts to get detailed information and costs from the Waveland group, and requests for meetings with them have not been successful."

A 3-2 vote was made by the Council recently on the intent to join the Coast Authority with time allowed for advertising to give the public time for input and time to petition for a vote.

On the vote for intent, Benvenuti, James Thrifflay and Fred Wagner were in favor with Wilmer Seymour and Harry Farve opposing.

Costs were discussed on service from both the local Authority and regional authority with challenges to both.

Aaron Adams, Bay resident said, "It appears there are discrepancies in both plans."

Bennett asked for a motion for a referendum.

Wagner stated, "How would you work it on a ballot, if you only ask if you are for or against the regional plan? 95 percent would reject it because figures banded about show it's expensive. Just how would you present this to the people on a ballot?"

Many mentions were made about the 99 year contract with the regional authority.

Benvenuti stated, "Over 100 years ago, our forefathers (not mine, we were not here yet), incorporated the city, they took on an eternity. In the 1930's the city purchased a gas system, they took on an eternity. Then in 1965 the city fathers took on a sanitary sewerage system, they took on an eternity. You take an eternity for anything you do."

Benvenuti talked about how his family has been in the plumbing for over 60 years, and that 'cheap' plumbing is not always the best way to go.

Paul Lewis stated that he was in favor of Mayor Bennett's plan of having the people vote on whether they wanted the city joining the regional authority.

John Scaffidi allowed, "We elected you and have trust in you, but my concern is that there is an alternative like the Waveland plan, and you don't know if it would be less expensive, we hope you would find out before you make a decision you cannot reverse."

It was mentioned that the Waveland plans call for Bay St. Louis to fund over 90 percent of the cost for the connecting line to the Waveland plant and also bear the blunt of the cost of the relocation of the outflow to Jourdan River.

Waveland's system currently has an outflow in Edward's Bayou.

"Persons who will be 18 and are registered 30 days before May 12 will also be able to vote. If someone is now 17 and will reach the age of 18 before May 12, they can come in now and register," Favre reported.

Favre added, "If a resident of Bay St. Louis has any doubt as to whether he or she is registered, give my office a call at 467-9060. It will take us only a few minutes to check."

The current office holders are Larry Bennett, mayor; Wilmer Seymour, Councilman-at-large; Peter Benvenuti, Ward One James Thrifflay, Ward Two; Harry Farve, Ward Three; and Fred Wagner, Ward Four, councilmen.

to stop construction. "We will be making a move as soon as possible to stop it," Dugger said Friday.

He said illness has prevented their meeting with the bureau but that they will be discussing possible alternative actions with the bureau next week.

Dugger and Oden both appeared at a BMR public hearing Jan. 6 to protest construction of the marina.

At that time Dugger said, "There is no need for construction of another marina in Bay St. Louis."

He said Bay Marina had 82 slips available of a total 131 slips.

The proposed new marina plans call for construction of approximately 300 to 350 boat slips, according to Joe I. Brown Jr., president of Brown Engineers in Gulfport who designed the marina.

Numerous town houses surrounding the marina are included in those plans. Brown said the townhouses will be built in clusters on elevated mounds of earth around the marina.

Plans for that construction will first have to receive approval from the Hancock County Planning Commission, he added.

The mayor-council form of government is finishing up its first term for the City of Bay St. Louis after a vote for a change from mayor and two-commissioner form of leadership.

The current term of office will end in early July, 1981.

The Bay was redistricted for the change of government. Ward One shows a registration of 671 qualified electors; Ward Two, 773 voters; Ward Three, 506 electors; and Ward Four 758 voters.

The deadline for the first primary voter registration is April 10, according to Favre.

Persons may register at the city clerk's office upstairs Monday through Friday from 8-4.

The Spinal Column
BY
WILLIAM L. POWELL, D.C.

Questions From Our Patients

PATIENT: When should a patient see a chiropractor?

DR. POWELL: Everyone should have a spinal examination at least twice a year. Any spinal distortion or nerve irritation could then be quickly eliminated. Preventive health care enables one to live a more healthy and productive life.

PATIENT: Why is the spinal column so important?

DR. POWELL: Your brain controls all the functions of your body. It sends vital nerve impulses to all areas of the body through your spinal cord. It receives important messages from the body as well. When a spinal bone becomes misaligned, it may irritate the sensitive spinal nerves, thus interfering with these important spinal messages.

PATIENT: If there is nerve irritation in the spinal column what type problems may exist?

DR. POWELL: This depends on the organ or area of the body controlled by the irritated nerve. For example, if an irritation would occur to the spinal nerves in the neck, a number of acutely painful conditions could result - such as migraine headaches.

PATIENT: What could a chiropractor do for neck pain, common headaches or even migraines?

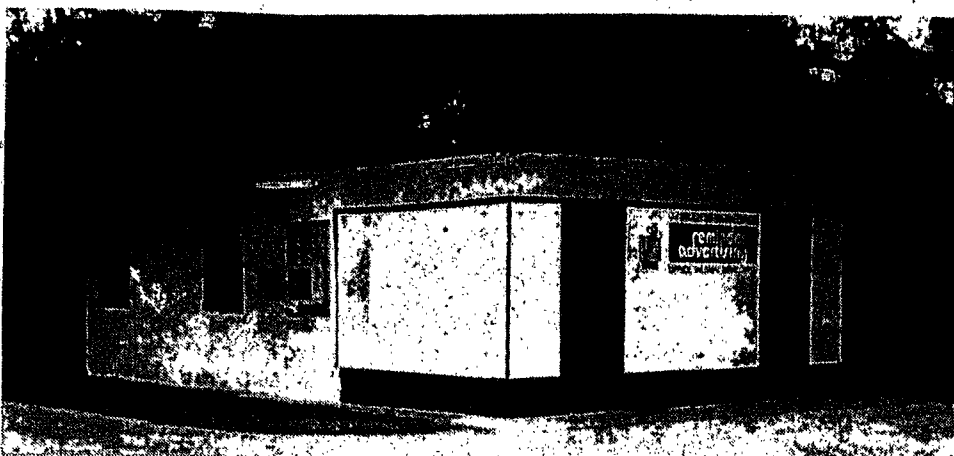

DR. POWELL: Following a complete physical examination and X-ray study, he would locate the areas of nerve involvement and remove the irritation by correcting the vertebral misalignment.

PATIENT: Is the adjustment painful?

DR. POWELL: Using proper chiropractic technique, there should be NO pain when making the correction.

Benvenuti, Douglass united in OLG ceremony

Susan Alice Benvenuti and William Metts Douglass were joined in marriage in an afternoon ceremony Saturday, January 3, 1981 at Our Lady of the Gulf Church by Father Francis Farrell, pastor.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Benvenuti of Bay St. Louis. Mr. Douglass is the son of Mrs. Marjorie Metts Douglass of Oxford, and the late Mr. William Metts Douglass.

Seasonal decorations provided the setting in the sanctuary with white poinsettias on the main altar, flanked by tall Virginia pines decorated with velvet bows and tiny lights giving a candle-like glow.

Readings from scripture were given by Brother Aquin Gauthier who also read a document from Rome indicating the bestowal of a papal blessing on the couple.

Providing nuptial music was Mrs. John McKenna, organist. The soloist was Brian Fox of Oxford.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a formal gown of ivory satepeau with chapel length train. The sweetheart neckline with English net insert and fitted bodice was decorated with lace appliques and seed pearls. Tiny satin bows enhanced the long fitted sleeves, which ended in calla point cuffs, and the back of the gown to the waistline. Her tiered veil of illusion was held in place by a Juliet cap covered with matching lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of ivory silk gardenias, sweetheart roses, apple blossoms and baby's breath interspersed with ribbon loops and bows.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Becky Benvenuti.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Betty Benvenuti of Bay St. Louis, sister-in-law of the bride; Maria Benvenuti, her sister; and Virginia Milazzo, all of Bay St. Louis.

The attendants wore long-sleeved, slim-skirted gowns in a deep teal blue, featuring fitted bodices with softly draped sabrina necklines which dipped to a deep cowl in the back. They carried lace-backed bouquets of ivory roses and carnations, pale aqua-blue forget me nots and baby's breath, with ivory ribbon streamers.

Best man was Brian Fox of Oxford.

Groomsmen were Joe De Benvenuti and Ben Benvenuti, brothers of the bride, of Bay St. Louis; and Col. J.P. Hooper of Oxford.

Serving as ushers were Raymond Benvenuti of Braithwaite, La.; Don King of Gulfport; and Robert Goodsell of Bay St. Louis, all uncles of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Virginia Hall, where the ivory skirted bride's table held a four-tier wedding cake decorated with sugar-spun roses and topped with an arrangement of silk flowers. Candelabra and greenery decorated the table.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a formal gown of pale lavender polyester crepe, with long sleeves. A softly ruffled collar enhanced the bodice of the formal gown. She wore a corsage of deep lavender roses.

The mother of the groom wore a chiffon gown in a coral pink, with fitted bodice, softly draped neckline and flowing chiffon skirt. A corsage of pink roses completed her ensemble.

Assisting at the reception was Mrs. Robert Goodsell, aunt of the bride, presiding at the cake table, Aline Milazzo, guest register and Lillian Abramson.

For traveling the bride wore an ivory silk two-piece suit with burgundy silk blouse and matching accessories. She wore a corsage of burgundy roses with lace ribbon.

Following their honeymoon, the newlyweds will reside in Oxford.

There's an Answer!

Sick and angry

Q. My husband is in a Veterans hospital. He has had on leg amputated and just recently his voice box taken out because of cancer.

He also has gangrene in two toes. I go on the bus to visit him about every week. He tries to talk to me but I can't understand him.

He won't write on the small blackboard I took him. He gets so mad that he even shakes his fist at me. He could come home weekends, but I can't get anyone to go after him. He is in a wheelchair and is a big man.

Most of his people say they can't stand to see him like that so don't visit him. I know this hurts him. Oh, I need to know how to help him!

A. Just keep on loving him and being kind to him. Don't let his irritation with you throw you. It is part of his trouble and is simply his way of expressing his grief.

He has gone through many painful and unhappy experiences. Just bear with him and stand by him. You are doing what you can, and it's good that you can do so much for him.

Perhaps you will find help in our booklet Spirit Lifters, which is on its way to you. Anyone wishing a free copy may write to us at Box 500, Pawling, N.Y. 12564.

State's officials schedule workshops

Mississippi's municipal clerks, assessors and tax collectors will have an opportunity to improve their personal skills, abilities and knowledge by attending an educational program offered in February.

The training program for municipal officials will be held in Jackson on Feb. 12-13 at the Sheraton and in Oxford on Feb. 19-20 at the Oxford Inn-Best Western.

"Budget Preparation and Financial Management" will be discussed at both sessions by Thomas G. Walker, local government specialist, Center for Governmental Technology, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service (MCES).

A course on municipal elections will be taught by Sam Birdsong of the Attorney General's office. "Elections take place in the late spring of this year. Therefore, this course will be of immediate value," said Dr. Larry Graves, assistant coordinator, Center for Governmental Technology, MCES.

Sponsors of the sessions are MCES, the Mississippi Municipal Association, and the Mississippi City Clerks, Assessors and Collectors Association. The training program, composed of 105 contact hours over a three-year period, is fully accredited by the International Institute of Municipal Clerks.

"Pre-registration is requested to help program officials plan for sufficient meeting space and program materials," Dr. Graves said. The session registration will be as follows: $15 for the Municipal Elections course; $25 for the Municipal Budgeting and Financial Management course; or $35 for the full session.

The program is conducted in part under a grant from the U. S. Office of Personnel Management under the Intergovernmental Personnel Act of 1970 and obtained through the Office of Federal-State-Local Programs, Office of the Governor.

her. I love my daughter very much, but I am thinking of asking her to move because she won't listen to us. Please help me do what's right.

A. If your description of your daughter is entirely objective and correct, I would guess that she is a deeply disturbed person. Convince, as best you can, to get psychological and spiritual counseling for her. We agree that it would be best for her to be out of your house. Continue to love her and pray for her, but you are not called upon to have your life governed by her erratic behavior.

Afraid, afraid
Q. I am 69-years-old — not young, a retired government worker. I am a wayward church member, divorced and all alone. I am getting afraid to live and afraid to die. My only relative lives in my hometown, 153 miles away. I am so upset with my little home which needs repairs and with making a decision to move back where all my family is buried. Can you help me?

A. Yes, and here it is: get organized in your thinking and apply some positive attitudes to your situation. Your question in a few lines lists nine negatives: old, retired, wayward, divorced, alone, afraid to live, afraid to die, upset, buried.

Try changing your negatives to positives and decide to be happy right where you are. And live your life.

Pulpit Points

BY DR. L.S. WALKER

IT IS BETTER TO KNOW HIM who holds tomorrow than striving to know what tomorrow holds. Things of tomorrow, hidden, from the finite mind, are not unknown to the infinite mind of Him who knows all things — yesterday, today and tomorrow!

It is little wonder that God's Word counsels us: "Boast not thyself of tomorrow; for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth" — Proverbs 27:1. I am glad that, as a child of God I do not have to articulate all my plans for the future. I can be quite content to leave that in His hands who knows the end from the beginning. That which looks very wise for me today, in the light of tomorrow's unborn moments and circumstances, may prove to have been foolish in the extreme.

"Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding."

"In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths" — Proverbs 3:5-6.

The man who trusts God completely and who accepts with unquestioned obedience the will of God will always find that those things which happen to him today, though they may seem today — unfortunate, will tomorrow prove to have been golden links in a chain of blessings.

Illness, economic reverses, adversity which may necessitate a move which may seem for the moment almost a tragedy, may be God's way of putting His child in the place where special blessings await him.

The bitter waters of sorrow forced to my lips may cause me to cry out to God for relief, and in my new reliance upon Him, I shall find crystal streams of abundant joy.

There is nothing so wise and so certain as the wise providence of God. No one knows what tomorrow may bring. The trusting child of God does not need to know, for whatever it brings forth will prove a blessing to him. For "we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose" — Romans 8:28.

Temporal losses prove themselves the falling away of chains which bind the spirit. The darkness of sorrow brings to the ear of the true Christian the melody of songs which were drowned out by the laughter of the day; and the flames of a martyr's death become the wings of a fiery chariot bearing a victorious saint to glory.

Praise God! How wise and how heavenly the privilege to leave our tomorrow with Him who orders all our ways.

"I have nothing to do with tomorrow, My Saviour will make that His care.

Its grace and its strength I can't borrow,
So why should I borrow its care?"

Governor's School for Gifted set at University for Women

Mississippi University for Women has been designated by Gov. William Winter as the site of the first Mississippi Governor's School for gifted young people.

A three-week residential program, offered to students free of charge, will be held June 7-27. It will provide at least one student from each secondary school system with a college-level learning experience stressing the unity of the humanities, sciences, arts, technology and ethical traditions. Participants will be selected from nominations by local school systems of rising high school juniors and seniors.

Dr. Charles R. Lucht, acting vice president for academic affairs, said, "Similar programs in other states have been powerfully effective in stimulating the whole educational system as well as in keeping the most talented youth within those states throughout their educational and professional careers."

Dr. Lucht continued, "We intend to use the full resources of the academic and professional communities at The W to develop a curriculum and faculty for the Governor's School."

"MUW has the privilege and challenge of engaging the brightest and best young people in our state in a way which will surely affect their future and ours," Dr. Lucht said.

Tourists in Australia
Australia is expecting more tourists than ever in 1980 with last year's total at 750,000.

This figure is a 12 percent increase over the 630,000 overseas visitors in 1978.

Alex (Roots) Haley to speak at Alcorn

Alex Haley, an internationally known writer, will speak at Alcorn State University Tuesday, Jan. 27 at 1:45 p.m. in the Health and Physical Education Complex.

Haley is perhaps best known for his Pulitzer Prize winner — Roots.

Roots is one of the best selling books in America.

Moreover, the book has been translated into 26 languages, and was a bestseller in many countries throughout the world.

In addition to the millions of Americans who have read Roots, either in book or magazine form, approximately 130 million viewers saw at least some part of the television version of the book.

The Academy of Television Arts and Sciences responded by nominating Roots for 37 Emmy awards, an all-time record.

Alex Haley taught himself to write during a 20-year career in the U.S. Coast Guard.

After retiring in 1959, he became a professional writer and journalist. His first book, The Autobiography of Malcolm X, won him national recognition as one of America's leading writers.

Haley attended Alcorn as a student during the 1937-38 school year.

The public is invited to hear Haley speak at Alcorn. There is no charge for admission.

State Spelling Bee planned April 20

Some 8,500 sixth, seventh, and eighth grade students in 93 Mississippi schools are expected to participate in the State Spelling Bee this year.

The bee, sponsored by the Sun-Daily Herald and the American Cancer Society, seeks to further develop language arts skills while at the same time giving students the opportunity to raise funds for the ACS life-saving programs.

Students first challenge each other on a local level where the top speller then advances to one of the district bees.

From the district bee, the top three spellers in each district then advance to the state bee.

The state bee is to be held April 20 at Gulf Coast Junior College.

At the National Spelling Bee, to be held in Washington, D.C. June 1-5, the top speller from each state will enjoy a week of sightseeing and challenge.

At the state level, trophies will be provided to all participants.

Prizes for the first place winner in the state competition will include an all expense paid trip to Washington, D.C. and a 30-volume set of Britannica 3, offered by Encyclopedia Britannica.

Second prize will be a Zenith Allegre Stereo donated by Zenith Corporation and McKee-McRae of Jackson.

Third place winner will receive a Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary and a Webster's Collegiate Thesaurus, offered by G. & C. Meriam Company.

During the past three years, Mississippi students involved in the bee have raised more than $25,000 for the ACS programs of education, research, and patient rehabilitation for cancer patients.

This year, the bee promises to bring the ACS one step closer to wiping out cancer while at the same time providing students with an experience that has continued to be fun and exciting for all.
